WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH.

Burning Can of Varnish Set Fire to Her Clothing.

(Special to The Evening World.)
NORFOLK, Conn., May 12.—Mrs. George Anson, aged forty-two, of West Cornwall, died early this morning as the result of burns received last night. She placed a can of Japan varnish on a stove for the purpose of heating the liquid.

BOY BURGLARS PUZZLED POLICE.

Detectives Trailing Them Had to Go About as Vaccinators to Secure Evidence—Three Arrested.

Three boys of Baxter street, the police say, showed such cunning in robbing the wholesale plumbing store of Robert Hamilton, at No. 175 Centre street, that Detectives Finn and Bernstein, of the Elizabeth street station, realized the necessity of resorting to strategy to get evidence against them.

The boys had climbed over eleven roofs to enter Hamilton's establishment. They went in through a scuttle and worked like veterans.

The detectives, getting a line on the lads, fixed themselves up with blue goggles, high hats and frock coats and went to No. 125 Baxter street as vaccinators from the Board of Health.

In the apartments of Antonio Fattipelli, they say they found the burglars' tools which had been used. Joseph Fattipelli, nine years old, is declared to have confessed that he and Louis Moron, goto and John Battaglia, ten and eight years old respectively, of No. 125 Baxter street, were the burglars, and that they stole tools valued at $150. They were arrested.

HISSED MAYOR'S LETTER.

Twenty-third District Republicans Angry About Patronage.

Mayor Low's letter expressing his regret that he could not attend the dinner given by the Republican organizations in the Twenty-third Assembly District to Leader Moses M. McKee, was hissed by the banqueters to whom it was read.

The charge is made that in the matter of patronage the Mayor has slighted that district, which gave him a nice majority, and that he has given jobs claimed by them to Democrats.

DEVER'S VICTORIA EXCITES ROCKAWAY

Ex-Chief So Proud of it that He's Afraid Salt Air Will Rust the Gold Trimmed Lamps.

William S. Devery did not go down to look at the sea waves at Rockaway Beach to-day. The salt air was thick and he was afraid it might rust the gold lamps on his new Victoria.

Instead of going to the beach he went out to his barn, rolled up his sleeves and polished the aforesaid gold lamps until they dazzled; he secured the plate-glass lamp fronts with a champane cloth and rubbed the gold trimmings gently with a linen handkerchief. One diamond was missing from the butt of the gold-mounted whip, but after an extended search it was found in the coachman's boot.

After two hours of loving work over his new $2,000 Victoria, William S. Devery stepped across the barn to overlook his new $2,000 team. The splendid animals heard him coming, but the doors were locked and they could not get out. He directed the work of the grooms who were manhandling the animals and then went back and took a siesta on the soft, silk-upholstered seat of the Victoria.

The new Devery vehicle is the wonder of the Rockaway peninsula. Large crowds continually surround the barn in which it is stored. Whether they are there with admiration or a desire to swipe the gold and diamond trimmings is a question of small importance so long as they are there. The rig, with appointments, is said to stand Devery $5,000.

TEST SUIT WON'T FREE "AL" ADAMS

District-Attorney Says Policy Slip Decision Doesn't Affect the Case—Doesn't Know, Though, When It'll Come Up.

"The test suit decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, that the possession of policy tickets is not necessarily evidence of guilt that the possessor was conducting a lottery, will in no way affect the 'Al' Adams case," said District-Attorney Jerome this morning.

"Our evidence against Adams is such that it depended very little upon the finding of policy slips."

But Mr. Jerome had very little idea as to when the case would come up for trial. It is not now on the docket at all, and what they are waiting for Mr. Jerome did not know.

The District-Attorney also said that the best evidence he had of the possible guilt of Detective-Sergeants Butler and Findley were their own statements, and from that he believed, at least one of them would be placed on trial on the charge of sheltering criminals and sharing with them in the booty.

DIED IN THE RIVER.

Unidentified Man Takes Fatal Leap—Rescuer Hauls Out Lifeless Body.

An unidentified man jumped into the North River at Twenty-first street to-day.

Daniel McCaffrey jumped after him and pulled him out, but the man was dead. He is thought to have had a weak heart, which stopped from the shock of his plunge. The man was about thirty-five years old, weighed 150 pounds and was clad like a laborer.

WHO'S SEEN TWO SMALL RUNAWAYS

Twelve-Year-Old Herbert Hadbow and His Friend, Clarke Ames, Aged Ten, Missing from Flushing Home.

Two small boys have been missing from their home at No. 142 Twenty-second street, Flushing, since yesterday afternoon, and no trace of them have yet been found. The missing lads are Herbert Hadbow, twelve years old, and Clarke Ames, aged ten.

Clarke Ames, sr., the father of one of the boys, called at the Flushing police station this morning and reported the disappearance. The boys were friends and it is supposed they went away together.

If the boys have not met with an accident it is supposed they are on a youthful escapade. There is no known reason why anyone should have wanted to kidnap the boys.
